

13th February 2026

Dear Parents,

Well, it is the end of a not-very-long but very wet half term. However, on Tuesday Year 4 managed to get just about the only day without rain to go on a conservation trip with Chiltern Rangers. They were outside all day, so it would have been absolutely miserable if it had rained. In the end, though, they had a great day clearing brambles and bushes to help the rare brown hairstreak butterfly. It is a great project with fabulous links to the Catholic Social Teaching theme of Stewardship.

Also this week, I want to say a massive thank you to the PTA for organising a brilliant disco last weekend. The disco made a fantastic profit of £636.40. This is amazing - but the most important thing is that the children loved it. A big thank you to everyone who helped. There were lots of parent helpers, which makes everything so much easier. We are at the halfway point of this academic year, and the PTA's total profit to date is already an incredible £9,072.85! Thank you so much, because this makes such a difference to your children's education. But even more importantly, these events are what build a great community.

Finally, yesterday the tag rugby team travelled to Chesham Bois for a very muddy match. The weather really has been against us, and although it was meant to be a home game, we had to move it. The children had great fun, and the best thing was that no one complained about the rain or the mud. It was a slow start again, and we were playing catch-up, so in the end, although we made a great comeback, we lost 28-24. Most importantly though, they are improving each game.

Have a lovely half term,

Mr Holdsworth

Car Park

Please can parents avoid parking in the car park without permission. It is really frustrating because there are some families with siblings with significant special needs or disabilities themselves who really need to park in there. When I was leaving for rugby yesterday, I could see those parents and grandparents who really need to park there struggling because of a handful of selfish parents.

It is very frustrating and I am just appealing to that group of parents to be more considerate.

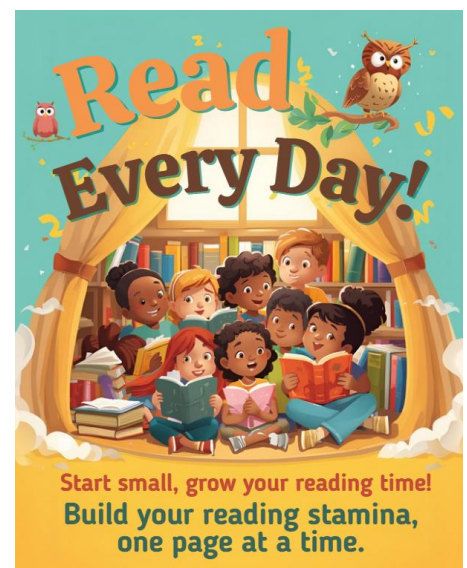

Thank you
Mr Holdsworth

Fit for Reading

Not their physical fitness, but their reading fitness. How long can they read without interruption?

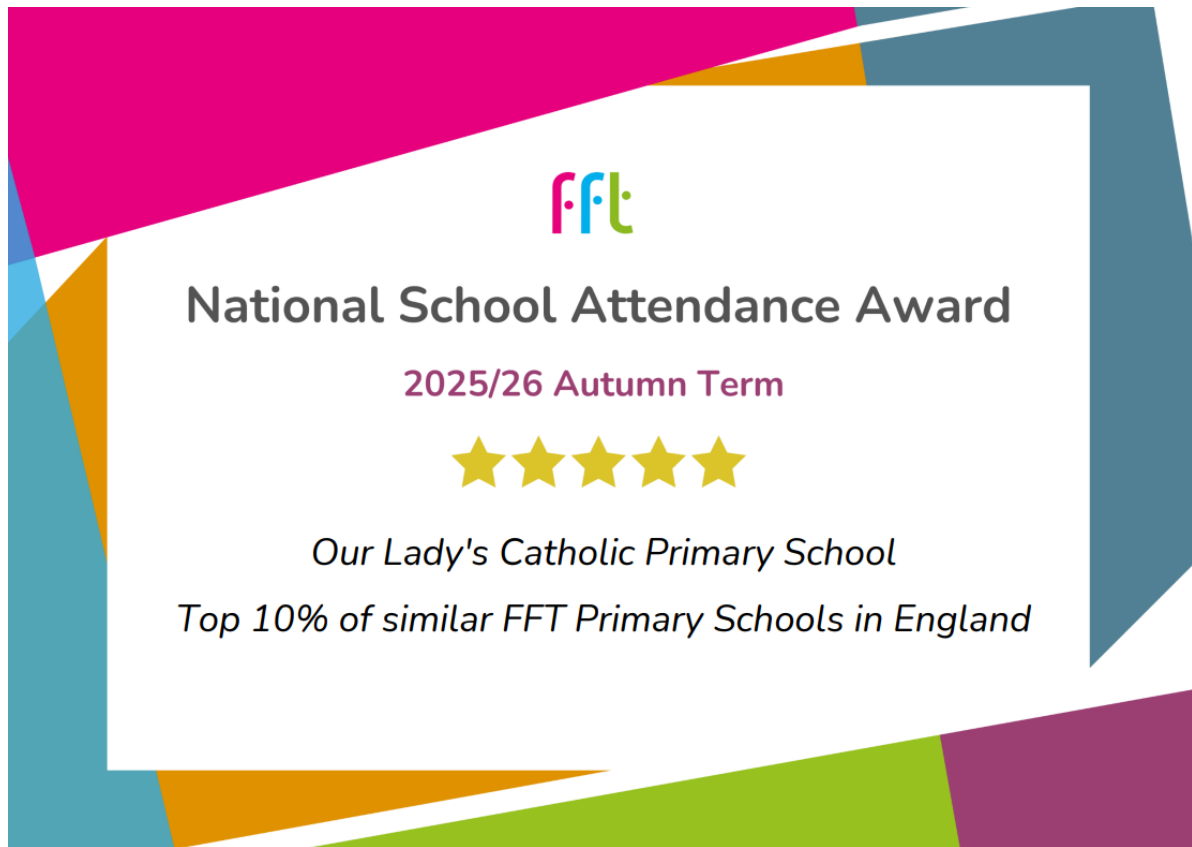

When I sit in a classroom, I don't even need to listen to the children read to make a judgement about their reading. I can simply watch them reading independently. Children who don't read at home often find it very difficult to sit and read for more than a couple of minutes at a time.

Parents can make a real difference with this. Help your child develop good habits. Start small and build up gradually. If they aren't reading regularly, you can't expect them to read for half an hour in one go. Begin with five minutes a day and slowly increase the time. It's just like training for a marathon or doing Couch to 5K.

Attendance

A massive well done to everyone as we were awarded an FFT certificate for being in the top 10% not only nationally but for similar high achieving schools.

We do still have about 11 children whose attendance isn't above 90%. I can't reiterate the importance for their future. An adult whose attendance at work is below 90% makes them considerably less employable. These are habits which stay with them forever.

This table which St Joan of Arc share with parents really shows that 90% is actually quite a low bar.

ATTENDANCE	NUMBER OF STUDENTS ACHIEVING 5 GCSES WITH GRADES 9-4
93-94%	54.9%
92-93%	40.65%
90-92%	33%
	90% attendance over 2 years = 1/2 a term of missed education

Accelerated Reader

The children who are already above their target and are higher than 85% in their quizzes are:
